“ I will never forget Dusty's first Halloween 🎃 she had a stuffed Fred Flintstone and cut its head off stuffed little dusty in Fred's body and tied Fred's hair on dusty .went to trick or treat at their door and Ann laughed so hard she thought it was the greatest thing . I meet little Oscar that night. Her heart was so loving . Giving thanks to her for giving the gift of mother /grand mother/great grand mother to so many ,she was so selfless. I can say she was a better person than I ,taking in 7 and one being so small was a was hard without doubt. When dusty was told of her many talents he called her super granny ,lol he had a way with words .i can de speak for our little family when I say she will never be forgotten and loved so much . I know she is with Tommy ,Dusty, among others who are gone and missed . Give my baby boy Dusty big hugs and kisses from Austin, Don and I watch over him with the same selfiness you granted to so many.....love you bunches Tina

“ My mamaw was a true red head through and through. She was fiery, opinionated, and brutally honest. She was also very creative, as she was a talented seamstress, loved to color and was an expert with nail polish. She loved to travel especially to the beach, was a huge Elvis fan, loved red pepper flakes on literally everything and all things cheetah print. She and Papaw were once the king and queen of CB radio, making friends from all over the US and Canada. She always wanted to look her best when she went out and rocked her moo-moos at home. She loved bingo, couponing and a good salad bar. She and papaw loved to sit on their porch from sun up to sundown during the summer.

She wasn't perfect by any means, but who is? Mom and I could fill the day with plenty of “Ann” stories, she was truly one of a kind. She loved all her grand babies. She and Papaw both were there when Evan was born, traveled to Morgantown with us for Evan's open heart to make sure we were all taken care of. She and Emma are alike in so many ways and loved the time they spent together. She will be forever loved and missed.

“ I met Granny in 2011. I started dating her grandson Brandon, and had a little girl who was 1 years old. Granny never ever hesitated to love LillyAnn as her own. I remember our first Christmas together, she bought LillyAnn a giant pink Beetle Bug power wheels. I am ever so thankful for how she loved my LillyAnn. Over the years we had so many funny memories. One of my favorites will be when Katrina, Ann, Morgan, LillyAnn, Nevaeh, and I all loaded up and headed to Ohio. Oh my goodness. There were so many fun memories that happened. It will forever be a cherished memory of mine. Life was so simple back then. Ann was there for me at times I felt so alone. I remember he calling me at 2am once just to check on me. She always told us the funniest stories about her school aged days. She was such a firecracker and so so much fun to be around. I am ever so thankful for being able to know her.

“ No one is perfect in this world, but I felt my mom is one of the best!! When my parents divorced when I was only 9, I was afraid she would never find happiness. Then Skeeter introduced his friend (Leo) my pops to my mother. As you all know very well when they married she inherited 7 other children. We became 8 is enough. (Haha) Most of us women would never have tackled or took on that responsibility. But she never thought twice when he ask her to marry him. To me that in itself showed, the selfless, compassionate person she was. Some may not agree and may think she could have done alot of things differently, who doesn't in this life. To me that set her above the rest. She didn't take their father or try to replace their mother, she gave them someone else to love them and receive love back. I remember her taking Tommy to muliple doctors over his speech disability. I remember her having pops take Don hunting for the first time. I remember when Donna Faye had Alyson she was by her side. I remember her helping us with prom. I remember when Diane and Chris got married. I remember when Diana was born. There are lots of good memories thru all the years and I hope everyone remembers some of them. I know I will always treasure them. Love you mom always and forever💔💔💔💔
