“ I remember when Curt and his wife lived with us, when they were expecting Little Curt.

Those were some of the most fun filled days ever, from my childhood.

Heres just one of those memories.

Somehow, a rubber super ball, made to look like an eyeball, found it's way into our house.

Curtis, Betty, and all of the rest of us, used to hide that thing in some of the most unexpected places.

It turned up in Mom's pot of vegetable soup one time! (That was Curt's doing)

We shared so much laughter, joy, heartache and tears together over the years that he and his tiny family shared in our home.

I love you Curt, and I know you're up there with Granny, Mom and all the rest of those loved ones that have passed, celebrating and shouting for joy!

Like JoAnn, I'm a bit jealous today, of what you must be experiencing.

I'll love you always, and treasure those memories until we meet again.

“ Libby, I’m so sorry. I know that don’t help your pain, just know that you and the kids are in my thoughts and prayers. I wanted to come to the funeral, but Robbie is bad. You know how you couldn’t leave Curt, that’s what I’m going through now. I will never forget that night you was doing an auction and I was bidding on those pics, and out of the blue Curt said everything Norma Clark bids on is free, I will never forget that. He always talked to me about the Lord, and how much I needed to give my life to him. I know he is walking those streets of gold, and he don’t need that oxygen anymore, no more pain. I love you guys, and I’m always here if any of you need a shoulder, someone to talk too. I love you guys.

“ Curtis was so much a part of my life, I always took it for granted that he would be there. He was there for me for all the good times, and the sad times when I faced my own loss. He stands out in my mind as the cousin who was the most! When dad took ill and then passed, Curt was there for me to offer his shoulder for me to cry on. Libby, know he is in no pain and singing in that heavenly choir. I love you all so much, and am so sorry for your loss.

“Curt and Libby have been my good friends for many many years. He was my Brother in Christ, my helper in the Lord’s work, and a member of the Duncan Fork House of Prayer for many years prior to helping Brother Dave at Matewan. He will be sorely missed by many. The good thing that comforts us all is the assurance that we’ll see him again in a little while.

Pastor Roger Ooten - December 19, 2018 at 08:49 PM

“He's walking on streets of gold with Jesus! No more pain, no more sorrow. I am jealous! I can't make the trip, I cannot spend that many hours in a car, and cannot afford to fly. I'll be there in spirit.
