Joyce was a beautiful lady. I remember the first time that I met her. I was applying for a job at Mingo Manor and she was in the lobby. She greeted me with the sweetest smile and big hugs. I will never forget about her.

“ Joy was such a blessing. Loved having visitors and greeted each one with great excitement. She enjoyed simple things in life, loved being outside in the garden and going to parties. Her enthusiasm was contagious and you always felt the better after visiting with her. She loved her sissy Clara, and she will be missed by all who knew her.
