“ He was my Grand daddy. The man strived in every way for quality. I loved this about him and always identified with this demeanor when his shirts were clean, pressed, and his vehicles were the same. This meant to me that he took pride not only in himself but the things he had worked hard to receive.

One year, I took a week off and drove up to see him with my dog. I always knew that my grandma was not a fan of animals so I packed a tent and stayed on his property for several nights and during the day I spent time working with him and just visiting. He said "Chad you can stay inside", but I wanted to stay on his park like lawn. I told him how nice his place was and he loved that. He really loved it how I shared my stories of national parks and the places I had hiked. And that his place was one of my favorites of all time. I guess you just had to be there, because I know that God put all those stars out in the sky those nights so we could talk about it. We always had that visit in common and would often talk about me staying in my tent on his property.
God Speed Granddaddy.
